

Initial Assignments

Contracts I Fall 2007
Professor Byrne

1. TWEN. All announcements and emails will be sent via TWEN. Students are required to register on the TWEN system for this course.
2. Materials. The casebook for this course is Farnsworth & Young, Contracts: Cases & Materials (Foundation Press 6th ed.) (2001). The required supplement is the Restatement (2d) Contracts and UCC Article 2 (2nd ed.). Both the case book and supplement are available at the GMU bookstore.
3. Syllabus. Additional information about the course is available in the Syllabus which is posted on the Law School website and the TWEN site for this course.
4. Assignments: You will be required to submit a resume by the beginning of the second class, Tuesday 4 September. If you do not have one, you should begin to formulate it. If you do, you may want to update it.
5. Assignments in the Casebook:
  - a. The reading assignment for the class scheduled for Tuesday 28 August 2007 is Farnsworth & Young pp. 1 -22.
  - b. The assignment for Tuesday 4 September is pp 22-53.
  - c. Further assignments will be posted on TWEN before the beginning of classes.
6. Reception. You are welcome to a tea to be held immediately after the first class (Tuesday 28 August) to be held in Room 121.
7. Cancellation & Make Up Class. The class set for Tuesday 18 September is rescheduled for Thursday 20 September from 1-3 PM in Room 121.
8. Preparation and Additional Reading. Rather than read assignments in advance, my advice to you is to read some background works that should provide some perspective in the study of law. I would suggest the following:

Karl Llewellyn, Bramble Bush: On Our Law and Its Study

Fred G. Kempin, Historical Introduction to Anglo-American Law in a Nutshell .
