Why Scalia Law

LEARN WHAT MAKES
OUR SCHOOL RIGHT
FOR YOU.

WE ARE LIVING IN A CLIMATE OF STRONG OPINION AND POLARIZED POINTS OF VIEW.

At Scalia Law, we believe that the best lawyers for these times are those who have learned to analyze, discuss, and advocate all sides of an issue.

That's why we strive to create a student experience that exposes you to viewpoints all along the legal and political spectrum—while encouraging you to join the debate, and to do it in a civilized and respectful manner.

We are a small law school, with a student body of only about 550. Our student/faculty ratio of 4.5:1 is the second-lowest of any law school in the United States. This provides you with direct and personalized interaction with professors—an invaluable advantage when learning complex legal doctrines.

While still a relatively young law school, Scalia Law has risen very quickly in several prestigious rankings. Although we have been a Top 50 school for the past 20 consecutive years, we rose to #32 in the most recent US News rankings. We are ranked #2 among all schools in both the Washington, DC area and Virginia. As a Washington-centered school, we offer you unparalleled opportunities for practical experience while you're in law school. We have established relationships with major national and international law firms, leaders in Congress, federal and state court judges, and a multitude of government agencies and public-service organizations.

An Enduring Legacy

JUSTICE ANTONIN
SCALIA | 1936-2016

“Justice Scalia will go down in history as one of the most important Supreme Court justices ever, and also as one of the greatest. His articulation of textualist and originalist principles, communicated in that distinctive, extraordinary prose, did nothing less than transform our legal culture.”

— THE HONORABLE
ELENA KAGAN
Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States

New Lecture Series Promotes Civil Discourse in the Model of Scalia and Ginsburg

The strong friendship between the late U.S. Supreme Court Justices Antonin Scalia and Ruth Bader Ginsburg is as legendary as their sharp disagreements on the bench. Guided by their example, Scalia Law launched a lecture series in July 2023 that brings together distinguished scholars for a series of substantive—yet civil—discussions of both sides of important legal issues.

The inaugural Scalia-Ginsburg Colloquy hosted two constitutional law scholars—Prof. Theodore M. Shaw from the University of North Carolina School of Law, and Harry G. Hutchison from the American Center for Law and Justice—who presented both sides of the Supreme Court's decision in the Harvard and North Carolina affirmative action cases.

"In addition to its intrinsic value, this colloquy shows how important it is to balance advocacy with professionalism and civility," said Scalia Law School Dean Ken Randall. "These traits are essential for effective lawyering but often in short supply today."

Additional colloquies, to which all students are invited, will occur at least twice a year, and will focus on forthcoming important Supreme Court decisions.
