Law & Economics Colloquium
Spring 2012
Professor Henry N. Butler
Founders Hall Room 477
4:00 to 5:50 PM

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This is an advanced course that will bring together outside scholars, resident faculty, and GMUSL students for discussion of cutting-edge research papers in the law and economics tradition. Approximately two of every three weeks will feature a leading scholar presenting a paper growing out of his or her research in the law and economics tradition. On weeks for which there is no outside speaker, the seminar will meet to review prior workshops and to discuss papers to be presented in later sessions. Students must write short critiques of the papers and are expected to engage in the discussion. The critiques are due at the beginning of each workshop.

SCHEDULE:

January 12  OPENING DAY
January 19  Jonathan Klick, University of Pennsylvania School of Law
January 26  Murat C. Mungan, Florida State University School of Law

February 2  NO Class/NO Meeting
February 9  Class Meeting
February 16  Kathryn Zeiler, Georgetown University School of Law
February 23  Quinn Curtis, University of Virginia School of Law

March 1  Class Meeting
March 8  Henry E. Smith, Harvard Law School
March 15  NO CLASS – Spring Break
March 22  Joanna Shepherd Bailey, Emory Law School
March 29  Benjamin Klein, UCLA Economics Department

April 5  Class Meeting
April 12  M. Todd Henderson, University of Chicago Law School
April 19  A. Mitchell Polinsky, Stanford Law School