Course Schedule: This course will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays from 8:10 PM until 9:35 PM.

Office Hours: Professor Young is available to meet before or after classes or to schedule a telephone or Zoom conference with individual students upon request. You may request a conference by email or text. Students also may send questions or comments by email or text at any time, a response to which will be made generally within 24 hours. Professor Young reserves the right to share with the entire class any individual questions or discussions he deems will be helpful for everyone.

Text: Bankruptcy Law – Principles, Policies, and Practice (“Bankruptcy Law”) Charles J. Tabb, Ralph Brubaker. 2021 Lexis-Nexis. (5th Edition). (ISBN 978-1-5310-1362-2; e-ISBN 978-1-5310-1363-9). U.S. Bankruptcy Code (“Bankruptcy Code” or “BC”) and Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (“Bankruptcy Rules” or “BR”) (dated 2020 or later). Course Overview: This course covers the basics of bankruptcy for individuals and entities including liquidation under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code and reorganization for individuals under chapter 13 and for entities under chapter 11.

Learning Outcomes: By the end of this course students will:

- Understand the philosophy of bankruptcy as applied to individuals and entities facing serious financial hardships
- Understand the relationship between bankruptcy law and other laws related to financial transactions and issues such as real estate law or the Uniform Commercial Code

- Be able to identify when and why an individual or an entity should consider using bankruptcy as a solution to financial hardships
- Know how to use bankruptcy to resolve financial hardships encountered by individuals and entities
- Know how to use the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules to protect the rights of creditors

Instructor Expectations and Course Structure:

- Students are expected to read assigned Text materials in advance of each class and are encouraged to participate during class by way of discussion and questions.
- This is an advanced course and not taught using the Socratic Method. Students will not be called on specifically but will be encouraged to volunteer their participation.
- Additional materials will be shared during the course by way of email. Students are encouraged to use their MasonLive email accounts but may also request email communications using other accounts.

Attendance: Regular and punctual attendance is required to earn academic credit. Attendance requirements for academic credit will follow the policies set forth in Academic Regulation 4-1. Should a student anticipate missing a substantial number of class sessions (e.g. a serious illness), the student should immediately contact the Assistant Dean, Student Academic Affairs.

Professor Young will keep an attendance sheet during the course and will mark a student as absent if not seen visually. In accordance with Academic Regulation 4-1.1, “A student who is not present for at least 75 percent of a session of the course is absent from that session.” If a student misses more than four class sessions, Professor Young is obligated to report such absence to the Assistant Dean, Student Academic Affairs.

Class Recordings Prohibited: Pursuant to Academic Regulation 4-2.2, no portion of a class session or an examination may be preserved by means of a recording device such as an audio recording device or camera. Any exceptions to this policy must be expressly permitted in writing by Professor Young.

- There is no plan or expectation at this time for this course to be recorded.

COVID Health & Safety Requirements: It is important to remember current University health and safety protocols require face coverings and social distancing for all persons on campus. Anyone who anticipates being on campus for any reason should refer to the most up-to-date University policies.

Exam: The exam for this course will be take-home and open book. Any resource – except other students, friends, colleagues or other persons – may be used during the taking of the exam. Students may take the exam at any time during the exam period (December 1 – 15, 2021) provided (i) each student must pick up the exam from and return the exam and answer to the Records Office within a 24-hour period; and (ii) the exam must be returned before the end of the exam period (COB December 15). The exam will be two fact patterns with three or four questions for each fact pattern. In accordance with Academic Regulation 4-4.1, excuses and requests for permission not to sit for an examination when scheduled must be presented, with appropriate documentation, to the Assistant Dean, Student Academic Affairs. Except in emergencies, such requests should be presented no later than two weeks before the date of the examination.
