OVERVIEW: This course considers the fundamental statutory and regulatory principles upon which the federal income tax structure is based, with an emphasis on individual income taxation. Topics covered include the definition and characterization of income, deductions, and the tax treatment of loans and property transactions.

LEARNING OUTCOMES: By the end of the course:

- Students should have acquired an understanding of the basic principles of federal income tax law, including major policy concerns
- Students should be able to demonstrate an ability to closely read cases and other precedents, and apply those concepts to facts
- Students should have acquired an understanding of statutory and regulatory analysis, including the close reading of statutes and regulations and the application of those statutes and regulations to facts

CLASSROOM PARTICIPATION: Each class builds on concepts from earlier classes, so it is important to prepare for, and attend, each class. Your grade will reflect class participation.

Starting with the second class on Monday, August 26th, the class will be divided into two panels based on your last name: a Monday panel (A-L) and a Wednesday panel (M-Z). When your panel is on call, if you know you will be absent or are unable to prepare (e.g. due to an illness or religious observance), you must email me prior to the class and be prepared to be on call during the next class and you will not be penalized (e.g. if you are due to be on call for Monday’s class, but miss Wednesday’s class due to illness, you will be on call for Wednesday’s class). This make-up option is ONLY available for excused absences that have been cleared with me beforehand or are the result of an emergency. However, if you are otherwise absent or unprepared on a day you are scheduled to be on call, your final grade may be lowered. Your grade may also be lowered for excessive absences or poor classroom participation. I also reserve the right to raise grades based on exceptional class participation.

Each student is also given one free pass during the semester. This pass must be taken prior to the class for which you plan to be unprepared. In order to use a pass, you must email me at least 30 minutes prior to the beginning of class (i.e. by 9:20am). A free pass cannot be used while you are being called on. You will simply be marked as unprepared. This free pass can be used at any time and for whatever reason – no explanation is needed in the email. If you have an excused absence and do not wish to make up your on-call day during the next class session, you may instead use your free pass if you so choose.

EXAM: The final exam will be on December 9th, 12:00 noon.

TWEN: It is mandatory that you register for the class TWEN page. All class slides, handouts and announcements will be distributed or posted through TWEN (password: perkinstaxf24)

EMAIL COMMUNICATION: Students must use their Mason email account to receive important University information, including communications related to this class. I will not respond to messages sent from or send messages to a non-Mason email address.

COURSE STRUCTURE & RULES: This course is scheduled as an in-person course. However, in the event we must pivot online for a class or classes (e.g. weather), you will receive instructions on how to access the virtual classroom.

INSTRUCTOR EXPECTATIONS

- Students are expected to keep up with the required readings and be prepared to participate in class, even when their panel is not on call.
- Students are expected to be constructive, courteous, and respectful of diverse opinions during classroom discussions.
- It is fine to disagree with, or critique ideas, but personal/ad hominem attacks are not acceptable.

ATTENDANCE: Regular and punctual attendance are required to earn academic credit. Attendance requirements for academic credit will follow the policies set forth in Academic Regulation 4-1. Should circumstances occur where you anticipate the possibility of missing a substantial number of class sessions (e.g. a serious illness), you should immediately contact the Associate Dean for Administration and Student Affairs, Annamaria Nields.

CLASS RECORDINGS PROHIBITED: Pursuant to Academic Regulation 4-2.2, no portion of a class session or an examination may be preserved by means of a recording device such as an audio recording device or camera. Any exceptions to this policy must be expressly permitted in writing by me. It is possible that at some point I may have to record a course session for use by students at the express direction from Associate Dean, Student Academic Affairs to accommodate a student for any required or necessary absences.

EXAM CONFLICTS: In accordance with AR 4-5.1, excuses and requests for permission not to sit for an examination when scheduled must be presented, with appropriate documentation, to the Associate Dean, Student Academic Affairs. Except in emergencies, such requests should be presented no later than two weeks before the date of the examination.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: It is expected that students adhere to the Antonin Scalia Law School Regulations and Honor Code. This includes the new policy related to the use of Generative Artificial Intelligence (GAI) in Academic Regulation 4-3. In addition, the Honor Code prohibits lying, cheating, or stealing. This includes a student obligation to never represent the work of another as their own, and to never provide or accept unauthorized assistance on any school related assignment. The Academic Regulations are available here. The Honor Code is available here.
