Contact Information and Office Hours:

If you need to contact me, please email me at sshanno4@gmu.edu. I do not have set office hours but will arrange to meet by request.

Reading(s) & Supplement(s):

Required Reading: Joshua Dressler & Stephen Garvey, Cases and Materials on Criminal Law (9th ed. 2022). As a supplement, I recommend Joshua Dressler, Criminal Law, Black Letter Outlines (5th ed. 2023) or any prior edition.

Course Overview:

This course covers basic, substantive criminal law and sets the foundation for understanding American criminal law. It is organized into three parts. First, students learn fundamental principles of criminal law, including theories of punishment. Second, students learn how to analyze criminal statutes. Third, students learn about several crimes (such as murder and manslaughter) and defenses (such as self-defense and insanity). The course is taught using actual cases, criminal statutes, and the Model Penal Code.

Course Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will know the Black Letter Law of Criminal Law. They will be able to apply the Black Letter Law to actual cases. Finally, they will be able to articulate their legal analysis in writing.

Grading Policies:

Participation: Class participation, including attendance, may adjust your grade up or down one-half of a letter grade.

Midterm Exam/ Paper %: Not Applicable

Final Exam/ Paper: Grades in this class will be based on a final exam, subject to possible modifications for participation as described above.

Additional Content: Not Applicable

Classroom Policies:

Attendance: Per AR 3-1.4, “maintenance of matriculation requires regular class preparation, participation and attendance, registration in the course of study required for the student’s program (full-time or part-time), successive registration for each fall and spring term of each academic year until study is completed, and compliance with all other relevant requirements.”

Absences: Per AR 4-1.1, “if a student is absent for any reason for more than 20 percent of the sessions of a course, the student is not eligible for credit in that course. A student who is not present for at least 75 percent of a session of the course is absent from that session.”

Participation & Preparation:

Students are assigned to be on call for particular class day. Some students will be on call for the first half of the class, and other students will be on call for the second half of the class. This does not preclude students who are not on call from participating.

Use of Technology & AI:

There are no restrictions on the use of technology during class.

Open Use Policy: Students are encouraged to explore generative AI tools in this course, and are authorized to use AI for any purpose during this course except during any quiz or exam. Students must use AI tools responsibly, verify facts presented by AI, disclose when AI tools are used to create course work product, properly cite any AI tools utilized, and should be prepared to produce the transcript of prompts and responses upon request. Misuse will be treated as a violation of academic standards.

Use of Electronic Text Books During Exams:

Students are permitted one laptop computer for exam taking purposes. Additional laptop computers or any other electronic data storage devices are not allowed in an exam room, unless permitted by the course instructor's written exam instructions. Electronic text books (e-books) may be used during exams that are designated as open book by the instructor, and the instructor allows text books to be used during the exam and allows access to a student's computer files during the exam (open exam). E-books may not be used in exams where the instructor does not allow students to access their computer files during the exam (secure exam) even if the instructor permits access to text books. If the instructor has blocked access to the internet or computer files, you must bring a hard copy of the allowed text book(s) you wish to consult. Students will need to borrow or otherwise locate a hard copy of the e-book or print resources needed from the e-book to take into the exam room. The instructor determines the length of the examination and whether or not it is secure or open and what, if any, study materials are permitted during the exam. Students are responsible for adhering to the instructor's standards for all examinations, which are included in the examination materials.
