3+3 Program Description & Requirements

The 3+3 Program offers highly motivated students a fast track to a law degree in six, rather than seven, years of study. Students pursuing the program must complete all core curriculum and major specific courses of their undergraduate education by the end of the sixth semester of undergraduate study; take the LSAT no later than December of the final undergraduate year and obtain an LSAT score equal to or exceeding the median LSAT of the preceding year for Mason Law students; maintain a minimum cumulative undergraduate GPA as calculated by the Law School Admission Council of 3.25; submit the entire law school application through the Law School Admission Council by January 1 of the year in which the student desires to enroll in the law school; and complete an interview with the admissions staff of the law school.

Why 3+3

Briefly tell us why you are interested in the 3+3 Program.

Agreement and Signature

By submitting this form, I am indicating my interest in pursuing the 3+3 Program between my undergraduate institution and George Mason's Antonin Scalia Law School. I understand that by indicating my interest in the accelerated program, I am not obligated to complete the 3+3 program, to attend Mason’s Scalia Law, or to attend any other law school. I understand that if I do desire to fully participate in and complete this accelerated program, I must complete all of the requirements for eligibility for admission to the law school.
