

LAW & ECONOMICS LLM

#1

City for Young Attorneys –
Washington, D.C.

#2

Scalia Law School faculty are #2 among total downloads per author among law schools

- According to Social Science Research Network in 2017

#4

Part-Time Program

THE MASTER OF LAWS (LLM) DEGREE IN LAW AND ECONOMICS is designed to provide law graduates the opportunity to develop an expertise in the skills of economic analyses as they are applied to a variety of legal issues. George Mason University is internationally recognized as a leading center of research in law and economics, constitutional political economy, and public choice theory. Economics touches private law, intellectual property law, international business law, regulatory law, and other areas that students may wish to explore.

SUPREMLY LOCATED - WASHINGTON, D.C.

There is no better place to study how economic analysis informs legal and public policy issues than at the Scalia Law School – just minutes from the heart of the nation’s capital. Whether in the halls of Congress, the United States Supreme Court, or one of the numerous administrative agencies, students can witness first-hand how economics influences laws relating to innovation, job creation, growth, and more.

LEARN FROM EXCEPTIONAL FACULTY

Scalia Law is home to an interdisciplinary faculty, many of whom hold JDs and PhDs in economics. Scalia Law professors recognize the importance of using economic and quantitative tools in legal and policy analysis. They have experience serving in various branches of government, and they are called on frequently for their expertise. Scalia Law professors train their students in the application of non-legal methods in legal contexts. This is a unique skill set that can be particularly valuable to students seeking government or policy careers.

EXCEPTIONAL FACULTY

THE HONORABLE JOSHUA D. WRIGHT
University Professor

B.A., University of California, San Diego; J.D., University of California, Los Angeles; Ph.D., University of California, Los Angeles

Former commissioner of the Federal Trade Commission and most-cited U.S. Law professor focusing on antitrust scholarship.

BRUCE KOBAYASHI
Professor of Law

B.S., University of California, Los Angeles; M.A., University of California, Los Angeles; Ph.D., University of California, Los Angeles

Held positions with the Federal Trade Commission as a senior economist, the US Sentencing Commission as a senior research associate, and the U.S. Department of Justice

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

NOBUTAKA YASUI
From Japan
Class of 2017

“ My LLM at Scalia Law School has been the most stimulating time in my life. The faculty offers advanced legal and economic analysis in practically useful ways. Grasping these ideas is not easy task but I've successfully integrated my practical experience with new ideas thanks to friendly support by faculty. Mason students also have in-depth insight on these issues. Discussing with them will bring indescribable joy to you. ”

THE LAW & ECONOMICS CENTER (LEC) AT SCALIA LAW SCHOOL

The LEC is a nexus for academic research and education that focuses on the timely and relevant economic analysis of legal and public policy issues confronting policy makers worldwide. Through the LEC, Scalia Law students have unparalleled access to top law and economics scholars and activities.

The LEC advances the understanding of law and economics through a variety of programs:

- Funding faculty research and hosting research roundtables and policy-relevant academic conferences;
- Offering educational briefings on Capitol Hill for staffers and the public. Panelists represent a balanced set of perspectives and include business leaders, lawyers, think tank experts, academics, and Members of Congress;
- Providing programs to the nation's judges and justices to build understanding of critical economic disciplines so that judges may apply this knowledge when assessing complex issues surrounding legal disputes; and
- Hosting workshops for attorneys general and regulators on the economics of information, advertising, and privacy.

Students in the Law & Economics LLM program may wish to avail themselves of the LEC's research and academic programming opportunities.

DEGREE DETAILS

*Fall & Winter semester start dates

*Can be completed full-time or part-time

*Degree earned after completion of 24-26 credit hours

COURSES INCLUDE

- Advanced Antitrust Seminar
- Advanced Economic Foundations
- Antitrust Economics
- Antitrust I
- Antitrust II
- Bankruptcy
- Comparative Antitrust Law
- Consumer Protection Law
- Economic Foundations of Legal Studies for LLMs
- Economics of Private Law
- European Competition Law
- FTC Seminar
- Introduction to US Law (int'l lawyers only)
- Legal and Economic Theory of IP
- Litigation and Dispute Resolution Theory
- Perspectives on Regulation
- Perspectives on the Individual, Family, and Social Institutions
- Products Liability
- Public Choice and Public Law Seminar
- Public Choice and Public Law Seminar OR Perspectives on Regulation
- Quantitative Forensics
- Regulated Industries
- Thesis (optional)

2016-2017 ENTERING CLASS

Matriculants

Males

Females

From 22 countries and U.S.

Student Age Range

of students are married or have families

OUR SCHOOL CAN BE DEFINED BY THREE WORDS: LEARN.CHALLENGE.LEAD.

Scalia Law School offers an outstanding legal education that invokes curiosity and passion in its students (Learn), trains students to critically evaluate prevailing orthodoxy and pursue new ideas (Challenge), and, ultimately, prepares graduates to distinguish themselves in their chosen fields (Lead).

Scalia Law School offers LLM students the opportunity to develop specialized expertise in one of three possible areas of law: Law & Economics; Global Antitrust Law & Economics; or Intellectual Property Law. Alternatively, for those LLM students who completed their legal education abroad and desire a strong foundation in the U.S. legal system, Scalia Law offers a comprehensive U.S. Law program.

ANTONIN SCALIA
LAW SCHOOL