I understand that:

- To qualify for the FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount, I must be employed full-time by a qualifying employer when I apply.
- To continue to receive the FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount, I must re-submit this form by July 15 before the start of each upcoming school year.
- I must disclose to the Admissions Office if I am no longer employed by the employer listed above. If I change my employment at anytime during my law school career, the Scholarship Committee will reevaluate my eligibility for the FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount.
- I must disclose to the Admissions Office if my residency changes. If my residency changes to in-state, I no longer qualify for the FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount.

- I must disclose to the Admissions Office if I switch to full-time. If I leave the Flex-JD program, I will no longer qualify for the FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount.
- The FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount requires me to be in good academic standing with no interruptions in matriculation.
- The FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount requires me to be in compliance with all Honor Code regulations at Scalia Law School.
- The FLEX-JD Public Interest Discount may be rescinded or revoked if I failed to disclose information requested in the character and fitness section on the law school application or if a character and fitness issue arises during my tenure at Scalia Law.
